

Regional employment program featured on AGDESSFB news room

The Australian Government Department of Employment Skills and Small Family Business recently highlighted the Code-A-Job Hackathon 2pi Software hosted in September of 2019.

The Regional Employment Trials program is continuing into October with several committed attendees learning applicable job skills in coding, web development and other tech specific jobs.

We are proud of all of the participants and will profile some of their unique stories in the coming months right here at 2piSoftware.com.

Click here to read the article on AGDESSFB website

If you are interested in pursuing a career in the tech industry contact us today! Whether your interest is in coding, software development, web, design, engineering or cloud services, we are always looking for willing people interested in these specialties.