

Website design and development completed for Tathra Wharf to Waves

We were thrilled when the Tathra Wharf to Waves committee contacted 2pi Software for a website redesign and build onto a newly setup WordPress architecture.

We provided a clean and modern design that will last for years to come. The design makes use of the beautiful image library that the Wharf to Waves committee has available. A simple-to-use results system allows them to easily add and update race results on the day of the event - something that required many more steps previously.

In addition to the visual and theme embellishments we provided, we also migrated 16 years worth of image galleries from their old CRM into WordPress. This meant that they could retain this historical and sometimes sentimental record of this remarkable event.

When we undertake a website design and development project, we always work with our clients to address areas where we can make maintaining and managing their website easier and more efficient. Whether you need a new design from the ground-up or a re-design and migration, contact us today and see how we can provide you with a quality end product that will stand the test of time.
